"MAD MEN" AND "SATURDAY NIGHT LIVE" STARS SHINE ON HAWAII ISLAND
Vincent Kartheiser and Kate McKinnon join Big Island Film Festival, May 23-27

For immediate release

KOHALA COAST, HAWAII—From sinister to seriously funny, this year's Big Island Film Festival (BIFF) celebrity honorees bring some of the best talent in television to Hawaii in May. Vincent Kartheiser, who plays "Pete Campbell" on the Award-winning drama series "Mad Men" will appear in person, as will Kate McKinnon, featured player on the legendary "Saturday Night Live," known for hilarious impressions of Ann Romney, Ellen DeGeneres and Penelope Cruz.

Named after Vincent van Gogh, Kartheiser began acting as a teen, in "Untamed Heart" with Marissa Tomei. His many film credits include "Little Big League," "Ironwill" and "Another Day in Paradise" with James Woods and Melanie Griffith. Most recently he appeared in the sci-fi thriller "In Time" with Justin Timberlake. On television, Kartheiser previously starred in Joss Whedon's "Angel," and has guest-starred in numerous other series including "ER" and "The Cleveland Show," before joining the skyrocketing success of Mat Weiner's "Mad Men" on AMC.

Kate McKinnon joined the cast of "Saturday Night Live" last April and has cracked up fans with creatively wacky characters and killer celebrity impressions ever since, one of which earned an invitation to "The Ellen Degeneres Show" April 24. McKinnon also earned a spot on Forbes' "30 Under 30" list for 2012. Prior to "SNL," McKinnon performed with numerous at the Upright Citizens' Brigade Theatre, becoming beloved by the New York comedy community for the three one-woman shows she wrote and performed at the UCB: "Disenchanted," "Best Actress" and "Kate McKinnon On Ice."
